

Quality, food safety and sustainability policy

Cantina Vignaioli del Morellino di Scansano S.a.

The Winery's quality, food safety and sustainability policy is the company's heritage, which has evolved to this day with the management's awareness of the importance of the territory in which it operates, its members and staff. These are the values that give the Cooperative the ability to better respond to market and customer demands.

As part of its continuous improvement process aimed at customer satisfaction, the Winery has chosen to adapt its organisational system by acquiring the system and product certifications required by the market:

- a) UNI EN ISO 22005;
- b) BRC;
- c) IFS;
- d) UNI EN ISO 9001;
- e) UNI EN ISO 14067 - Carbon Footprint;
- f) VIVA "La Sostenibilità nella Vitivinicoltura in Italia"

Over time, the Winery has increased its processing capacity and continues to innovate with targeted investments in infrastructure and technology applied to both production and sales processes. It constantly monitors and improves the systems aimed to guarantee the health and food safety of its products.

Today, the management of the Cooperative considers it necessary to pay the utmost attention to maintaining and developing the following objectives:

- a) always ensure the food safety of the products in response to regulations and laws, and customers' specific requirements;
- b) ensure the health and safety of workers at all times;
- c) adapt its structure to market developments;
- d) maintain a high level of involvement of all personnel, spreading the culture of Quality, food safety, worker safety and compliance with industry standards and laws at all levels of the company;
- e) pay due attention to market developments with regard to elements that guarantee sustainability including energy savings, the use of renewable energy sources and any other measure that can be used to improve the performance of the environmental system.

The company management annually defines specific objectives concerning Quality, Food Safety and Sustainability and periodically reviews the results.

The company management is also committed in systematically verifying the effectiveness of the company's Quality, Food Safety and Sustainability Management System, its application, the achievement of objectives and in promoting any necessary preventive and/or improvement actions.
